So you're home - here's this tiny curly-up creature, wrapped up like take-away fish and chips - now what? With warm humour and accessibility Kaz Cooke provides a complete guide for first-time parents, addressing all the practical and emotional issues you'll face from the moment you leave the delivery room to the first day of school. Crying, cooing, sleeping, feeding, potty training, tantrum flailing - this is the one book to reach for. It's packed with brilliant information, is completely grounded in reality and is a celebration of how to enjoy the wonders of parenthood that will provoke many a tear of laughter. No bossy-boots rules, just the sanest, soundest, funniest advice you'll ever get.

"A baby sleep book that advocates responsive parenting and cites research in infant neural and emotional development"--Provided by publisher.

The landscape of early childhood education and care is changing. Governments world-wide are assuming increasing authority in relation to child-rearing in the years before school entry, beyond the traditional role in assisting parents to do the best they can by their children. As part of a social agenda aimed at forming citizens well prepared to play an active part in a globalised knowledge economy, the idea of 'early learning' expresses the necessity of engaging caregivers right from the start of children's lives. Nichols, Rowsell, Rainbird, and Nixon investigate this trend over three years, in two countries, and three contrasting regions, by setting themselves the task of tracing every service and agent offering resources under the banner of early learning. Far from a dry catalogue, the study involves in-depth ethnographic research in fascinating spaces such as a church-run centre for African refugee women and children, a state-of-the-art community library and an Australian country town. Included is an unprecedented inventory of an entire suburban mall. Richly visually documented, the study employs emerging methods such as Google-mapping to trace the travels of actual parents as they search for particular resources. Each chapter features a context investigated in this large, international study: the library, the mall, the clinic, and the church. The author team unravels new spaces and new networks at work in early childhood literacy and development.

Pregnancy is chock-full of pleasantries like uncontrollable gas, crazy food cravings, stretch marks, and many other joys that go along with your body becoming a host organ. So it's a shame that most pregnancy books are outdated, dry, and full of clinical commands. At last, here's a week-by-week guide about what to expect when you're an expectant, modern, career woman with a sense of humor. A BUN IN THE OVEN delivers the up-to-date lowdown on pregnancy, birth, and coping when you first get home. No bossy rules, just the soundest, sanest, wittiest advice you'll ever get on topics like: What's happening to you and the baby each week. Nausea and other "side effects." Tests: what they are like and what they are for. The best services and books on everything. How to be rude to complete strangers who rub your tummy. Childbirth and pain relief. What life is like with a newborn baby. This irreverent guide to pregnancy-including the scary parts, funny parts, and private parts-is guaranteed to give you peace of mind, keep you informed, and make you laugh out loud. Each week also features a selection from Madeline the Modern Girl's pregnancy diary (in the spirit of "Bridget Jones's Diary" and "Sex and the City"). Like a trusted girlfriend, Madeline reveals the sometimes silly and always poignant details of her expectant journey. Features Kaz Cooke's syndicated comic illustrations. More than 60,000 copies sold in Australia.
