The Air War, 1939-1945 was first written in the late 1970s when there was very little academic interest in the history of air power. What there was focused largely on combat. The book was intended to provide a global history of the air war by looking at combat, but also the broader context of technology, production, intelligence and leadership. The book sought to address the question of why the Allies in the end won decisively the war in the air, and concluded that Axis air forces were too tied to a narrow conception of air

The book has been assigned reading in military and air force academies for the past forty years. “ The Air War, 1939-1945... immediately and permanently altered the way that historians have examined the nature of aerial warfare during World War II.
