Green - Michel Pastoureau 2014-08-24

In this beautiful and richly illustrated book, the acclaimed author of Blue and Black presents a fascinating and revealing history of the color green in European societies from prehistoric times to today. Examining the evolving place of green in art, clothes, literature, religion, science, and everyday life, Michel Pastoureau traces how culture has profoundly changed the perception and meaning of the color over millennia—and how we misread cultural, social, and art history when we assume that colors have always signified what they do today. Filled with entertaining and enlightening anecdotes, Green shows that the color has been ambivalent: a symbol of life, luck, and hope, but also disorder, greed, poison, and the devil. Chemically unstable, green pigments were long difficult to produce and even harder to fix. Not surprisingly, the color has been associated with all that is changeable and fleeting: childhood, love, and money. Only in the Romantic period did green definitively become the color of nature. Pastoureau also explains why the color was connected with the Roman emperor Nero, how it became the color of Islam, why Goethe believed it was the color of the middle class, why some nineteenth-century scholars speculated that the ancient Greeks couldn't see green, and how the color was denigrated by Kandinsky and the Bauhaus. More broadly, Green demonstrates that the history of the color is, to a large degree, one of dramatic reversal: long absent, ignored, or rejected, green today has become a ubiquitous and soothing presence as the symbol of environmental causes and the mission to save the planet. With its striking design and compelling text, Green will delight anyone who is interested in history, culture, art, fashion, or media.

An Etymological Dictionary of the Romance Languages - Friedrich Diez 1864

The Flavors of Modernity - Gian-Paolo Biasin 2017-03-14

From Rabelais's celebration of wine to Proust's madeleine and Virginia Woolf's boeuf en daube in To the Lighthouse, food has figured prominently in world literature. But perhaps nowhere has it played such a vital role as in the Italian novel. In a book flowing with descriptions of recipes, ingredients, fragrances, country gardens, kitchens, dinner etiquette, and even hunger, Gian-Paolo Biasin examines food images in the modern Italian novel so as to unravel their function and meaning. As a sign for cultural values and social and economic relationships, food becomes a key to appreciating the textual richness of works such as

Lampedusa's The Leopard, Manzoni's The Betrothed, Primo Levi's Survival in Auschwitz, and Calvino's Under the Jaguar Sun. The importance of the culinary sign in fiction, argues Biasin, is that it embodies the oral relationship between food and language while creating a sense of materiality. Food contributes powerfully to the reality of a text by making a fictional setting seem credible and coherent: a Lombard peasant eats polenta in The Betrothed, whereas a Sicilian prince offers a monumental macaroni timbale at a dinner in The Leopard. Similarly, Biasin shows how food is used by writers to connote the psychological traits of a character, to construct a story by making the protagonists meet during a meal, and even to call attention to the fictionality of the story with a metanarrative description. Drawing from anthropology, psychoanalysis, sociology, science, and philosophy, the author gives special attention to the metaphoric and symbolic meanings of food. Throughout he blends material culture with observations on thematics and narrativity to enlighten the reader who enjoys the pleasures of the text as much as those of the palate. Fate i bravi! (0-3 anni) - Lucia Rizzi

L'arrivo di un bambino è la gioia più grande nella vita di una coppia. Tuttavia, nei primi tempi diventa spesso anche fonte di paure e di dubbi. Che cosa ci vuol dire il nostro neonato con quel pianto ininterrotto? Perché si sveglia quarantacinque volte per notte? Poi, con il passare del tempo, assieme ai progressi, sembrano moltiplicarsi i problemi: come mai la piccola si ostina a non mangiare? Per quale motivo è sempre nervosa? In che modo è bene affrontare (o, meglio, prevenire) i suoi assurdi capricci? Tata Lucia - vera 'Mary Poppins' del Terzo Millennio, ma soprattutto esperta di comportamenti nell'infanzia - si dedica alla fase cruciale che va dalla nascita ai 3 anni, presentando regole chiare e consigli efficaci per accogliere nel migliore dei modi un neonato in famiglia e accompagnarlo, mese dopo mese, nell'affascinante cammino alla scoperta del mondo. Secondo Tata Lucia, infatti, le buone abitudini quotidiane e l'atteggiamento corretto per una crescita positiva vanno impostati fin dai primi giorni di vita: potrebbe sembrare difficile, ma non lo è perché - come lei afferma provocatoriamente - 'bravi si nasce!' ovvero tutti i bambini nascono e possono continuare a essere 'bravi'.
